

Lilith: A Feminist History Journal
NUMBER 8 SUMMER 1993:
DEALING WITH DIFFERENCE FEMINISM AND ETHNICITY

Editorial	7-9
ARTICLES
The Politics of Irreducible Differences Sneja Gunew	10-31
Theorizing Ethnicity in Australian Feminism Georgina Tsolidis	32-40
From 'Universalism' to 'Unity in Diversity': Feminist's Responses to the Intersections of Ethnicity, Gender and Sexuality Maria Pallotta-Chiarolli	41-52
Institutionalised Feminism: A Tidda's Perspective Catrina Felton and Liz Flanagan	53-59
Defying the Ethnographic Ventriloquists: Race, Gender and the Legacies of Colonialism Jackie Huggins and Kay Saunders	60-70
The World According to Effie Maria Katsabanis and Adele Murdolo	71-81
Brides, Wives and Single Women: Gender and Immigration Srebrenka Kunek	82-113
"It was hard for us to marry Aboriginal": Some Meanings of Singleness for Aboriginal Women in Australia in the 1930s Catriona Elder	114-138
'Don't Tell England!': Women of Empire Campaign to Change Aboriginal Policy in Australia Between the Wars Fiona Paisley	139-152
CONFERENCE REFLECTIONS
Jackie Huggins	153-158
Marilyn Lake	159-161
Sarah Lowe and Anita Langford	162-163
BOOK REVIEWS
Vron Ware, Beyond The Pale: Women Racism and History Fiona Paisley	164-168
CONTRIBUTORS	169