

Lilith: A Feminist History Journal
NUMBER 9 AUTUMN 1996: THE VIOLENCE OF INSTITUTIONS

INSTITUTIONS

Working Like Mad: Nineteenth-Century Female Lunatic Asylum Attendants and Violence

Lee-Ann Monk 5-20

Cleansing their Souls: Laundries in Institutions for Fallen Women

Joanne Monk 21-32

Venereal Disease and the Policing of the Amateur in Melbourne during World War I

Julie Tisdale 33-52

SEXUALITY

Disciplined, Punished and Resisting Bodies: Lesbian Women and the Australian Armed Services, 1950s-60s

Ruth Ford 53-77

Landscapes of Conflict, Violence and Integration: Health Services and Second-Generation Women of Non-English Speaking Backgrounds

Maria Pallotta-Chiarolli 78-98

VOICES

Aboriginal Child Removal – A Personal Perspective

Lisa Bellear 99-103

The Violence of Racism and the Implications for Minority Women

Malina Stankovska and Pandora Petrovska 104-124

FEMINIST THEORY/FEMINIST PRACTICE

The Discourses of Crisis in the Women's Liberation Movement and the Women's Electoral Lobby in Melbourne in the late 1970s

Katy Reade 125-145

Rethinking Penalty – Foucault, Feminism and Punishment

Adrian Howe 146-166

REVIEWS AND LETTERS

Patricia Grimshaw, Susan Janson and Marion Quartly (eds.) Freedom Bound I and Katie Holmes and Marilyn Lake (eds.) Freedom Bound II

Cathy Coleborne 167-169

Susan Sheridan Along the Faultlines: Sex, Race and Nation in Australian Women's Writing

Fiona Paisley 170-173

Wendy Weeks Women Working Together: Lessons from Feminist Women's Services

Adele Murdolo 174-178

Letter to the Editors

179

Suvendrini Perera